

GemoMech® 665

APPLICATION

- › assembly works
- › automotive and supply industry
- › metal and plastics processing
- › storage and commission works
- › maintenance and repair work

QUALITIES AND ADVANTAGES

- › good grip when handling greasy and oily parts
- › very good touch sensation
- › flexible
- › excellent mechanical resistance
- › very durable

MECHANICAL PROTECTIVE GLOVES

|                      |                                                                                                                           |
|----------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Article no.          | 665                                                                                                                       |
| Name                 | GemoMech® 665                                                                                                             |
| Material             | nitrile,polyamide                                                                                                     |
| Description          | dots (nitrile),nitrile foam coating                                                                                   |
| Length (mm)          | 215 - 270                                                                                                                 |
| Total thickness (mm) | 1,30 ± 0,20                                                                                                               |
| Colour               | black/grey                                                                                                                |
| Size                 | 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11                                                                                                        |
| Classification       | category IIEN388:20163121X |

FEATURES

- › washable
- › marked according to size with different colours on the wristband
- › ergonomic fit

www.kcl.de
sales@kcl.de

by Honeywell

KCL GmbH

Industriepark Rhoen
Am Kreuzacker 9
36124 Eichenzell
Germany
Phone +49 6659 87-300
Fax +49 6659 87-318

Honeywell