Product Description

The power strip is a practical solution that provides safe and efficient power supply for devices in the workplace. Designed to cover the full width of the workbench or in a half-width version, it offers flexible mounting options to accommodate various workspace needs. Made from durable 1.0 mm thick sheet metal, the power strip features a robust construction and resistance to damage. Equipped with a universal power strip with a switch and surge protection, it safeguards connected devices against sudden voltage spikes, which is crucial for maintaining their long-term functionality and safety. Available in various configurations, the power strip can be customized to meet specific production requirements, offering additional options such as USB ports, LAN connections, or compressed air. As such, it is a valuable addition to workstation equipment, enhancing comfort and work efficiency.
